

2019 LoanMart
COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Financial literacy is essential at any age, but particularly so for young adults. By setting children up for success now when it comes to learning about economic terms, trends, and concepts, the better informed they can be when they make important financial decisions later on in life.

LoanMart believes in promoting financial literacy in young adults and throughout whole communities. That is why LoanMart wants to reward the young adults who have taken the time and responsibility to learn about financial literacy.

LoanMart is offering a $2,000 Financial Literacy Awareness Scholarship Program for graduating high school students who show how they have immersed themselves in financial literacy throughout their academic career. The award will go towards the cost of the student's tuition.

Scholarship Requirements

In order to qualify for the Financial Literacy Awareness Scholarship Program with LoanMart, the applicant must be a graduating high school student set to attend a college or University, full-time.

Students seeking technical or financial undergraduate degrees are preferred, but the opportunity is open to all students who demonstrate the importance of financial literacy throughout their community.

How to Apply

In no more than 1,500 words, write a brief essay about financial literacy in your community. Think of a resource, tool, or program that could be set in place to promote financial literacy through the use of technology. Don't be afraid to think outside of the box and get creative.

Special attention will be paid to those who describe methods of connecting the masses with financial literacy education.

In addition to the essay, the following information will also be required for applications for the Financial Literacy Awareness Scholarship Program:

- Full Name
- University/college name
- Class year (year of high school graduation)
- Major (and proof of major)
- Contact Information: Phone, E-mail, also feel free to include sources like a Facebook profile, etc.
- A copy of academic transcripts (official or unofficial both okay)

By submitting an application for this scholarship, each applicant must be of 18 years of age or older at the time of application and agrees that their name and/or image may be used in LoanMart promotional materials such as, but not limited to, newsletters, online blogs, website, brochures and press releases.

The LoanMart Scholarships are awarded without regard to race, color, ethnicity, social class, gender or sexual orientation.

What is the Due Date for the Financial Literacy Awareness Scholarship Program Application?

All applications must be post-marked no later than August 15, 2019 for consideration for the 2019 Fall Semester.
